Wake Forest

The primary interest of the college is the college itself — its traditions and activities. For many years baseball has been a sport of major interest at Wake Forest, and the teams representing this school have made such good records that the sport has practically become a tradition. Baseball and Wake Forest are synonymous in the field of college athletics. With this in mind, it was the privilege of the editor to honor in this volume the past baseball teams of Wake Forest, and to show some of their accomplishments. May the college continue to reap the glory of her teams on the diamond, may the example of good sportsmanship shown by these teams be followed by all future teams.

C DEDICATION

To Coach John C. Caddell, moulder of champions and dean of North Carolina coaches, this 1937 Hawler is dedicated by the staff, with appreciation for his loyalty to Wake Forest College.

For more than a dozen years, Coach Caddell has taken boys from little towns nearby, shaped them into championship baseball teams, and fed them to the big leagues. Although Wake Forest is within a stone's throw of colleges which lead the nation in athletics, her aggregation of unheralded son-of-a-birth stars whip their neighbors with almost monotonous consistency.

There is nothing magical about this seeming miracle except for the personality of Coach Caddell. He himself is a gentleman and inspires the same quality in his players. The baseball boys fight through to the end because they highly respect the dignified dairyman who, singlehanded, has turned out championship teams ever since he first took over the team.

A Wake Forest resident from childhood, Caddell has remained loyal to his native heath and cast his lot with his home community in spite of enticing offers to go elsewhere.

When a team of his again took the state championship last spring congratulations poured in from every section of the state. An Asheville lawyer wrote: "To John Caddell, Premier North Carolina Coach, Prince of Gentlemen, Wake Forest, North Carolina. If the rhododendrons were not to bloom this year it would not be as surprising as if your baseball team were not to make a creditable showing."

John C. Caddell

THIS team was led by S. R. Edwards, Pitcher. State Champions before such a title was officially given, we salute these men for the standard they set in good sportsmanship by which future baseball teams of Wake Forest College might be measured.

Winning five games in as many starts is the only record we have of this team. However, the playing of such men as Edwards, Turner, King, Smith, Walker, Vann, J. Turner, Richardson, Goodwyn, Hamrick, and Wiggs, will long be remembered.

VIEWS

THURMAN D. KITCHIN, B.A., M.D., LL.D., F.A.C.P.
President and Professor of Physiology

The record of the man who directs the destiny of Wake Forest College is too well known to warrant recital in these pages. From a family famous in its own right, Thurman Delna Kitchin upholds splendidly the best traditions bequeathed him by a father and two famous brothers.

Even those who have been associated with him since he assumed the Presidency can little estimate the value of the services he is rendering. Leave to coming years and future historians the story of the man and his work—a saga of courage and vision, an epoch in the history of a great institution.

ELLIOT B. EARNSHAW, M.A.

Bursar and Secretary
Superintendent of College Hospital

The office of Bursar combines the various business activities of the college together with the duties and responsibilities of all financial transactions. Elliot B. Earnshaw has occupied the position for thirty years, has served as Superintendent of the College Hospital for a long period, and in addition is secretary to the board of trustees. During this time he has conducted his office in such a friendly and pleasant manner that he counts among his friends every student with whom he has come into contact.

ADMINISTRATIVE DIVISION

GRADY S. PATTERSON, B.A.

Registrar

As officer of admissions, the Registrar passes on all applications and certificates of prospective students. His office receives and records in permanent form the scholastic standing of all students.

The present Registrar, Grady S. Patterson, has occupied his position for eleven years. During this period he has introduced thoroughly modern and efficient methods into what was once a very congested office. He is recognized as an authority in his field, and he this year headed the Association of North Carolina Registrars.

DANIEL BRYAN, M.A., Ph.D.
Dean of the College and Professor of Education

THE SCHOOL OF LIBERAL ARTS

For fourteen years Dr. Bryan has served the college as Dean, moulding the characters of Wake Forest men, and inspiring love and confidence in all with whom he comes in contact. His work under three presidents has caused members of the faculty and student body to admire him as a strong counselor and a real man. His cooperation and far-sightedness are doing much to advance the standing of the school in every field.

The largest division of the college, the School of Liberal Arts, embraces a total of thirteen distinct departments of instruction with a student enrollment of nearly 925 and a faculty of 34 including five teaching fellows. The oldest unit of Wake Forest, this division has operated since the founding of the college in 1834. During the 103 years since the doors of the institution were first opened thousands of men have gone away to make brilliant records as teachers, ministers, journalists, men of business, and as citizens of the state and nation. Sixty-four years of successfully training men elapsed before the college's first professional school—the School of Law—was added in 1894. Eight years later, in 1902, the second professional unit of operation—the School of Medicine—was established.

Despite the fact that the two professional schools have grown to amazing proportions during their comparatively short period of existence, the School of Liberal Arts has grown along with them in both prestige and numbers. The faculty has enjoyed numerous additions, and the student enrollment has kept pace.

Physical equipment is altogether complete, numerous additions in buildings and in work materials having been made within recent years. The newest additions are Wait Hall, housing the administrative offices and classrooms, a remodeled old gymnasium that now serves as headquarters for the Social Science Department, a new gymnasium serving students in all three college divisions, and a new dormitory that houses five fraternities.

NEEDHAM Y. GULLEY, M.A., LL.D.

Since the Wake Forest College School of Law was founded in 1895 with Dr. Needham Y. Gulley as the only professor, it has grown until there are six professors teaching. In all, the school has graduated around 1,500 lawyers. There are approximately 1,900 practicing attorneys, graduates of Wake Forest, in North Carolina.

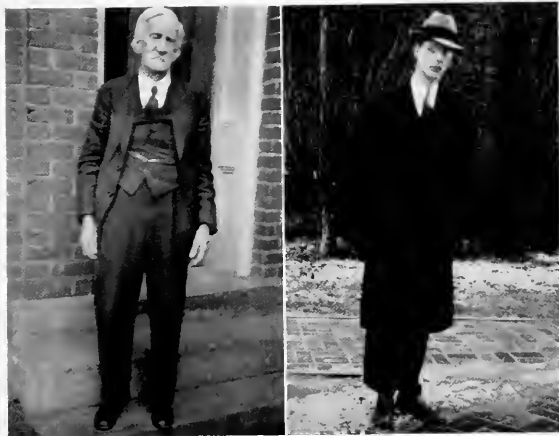

Dr. Gulley, during his forty-first year as active dean, established a record—both with regard to long tenure of office and quality of work done—probably without equal in the history of American legal education.

DALE F. STANSBURY, B.S., LL.B., J.S.D.

Dr. Dale F. Stansbury has taken over the administrative reins for the past two years with commendable smoothness and efficiency. Under his supervision the law school has obtained national recognition. Last year the number of volumes in the law library was trebled and the school was recognized in every respect by the American Bar Association and other accrediting agencies.

The Wake Forest Law School is recognized as one of the best in the south; from the time of its establishment the primary purpose has been to train young men for the practice of law in North Carolina, although ample facilities are provided for students who may expect to practice in other jurisdictions.

THE SCHOOL OF LAW

COY C. CARPENTER, B.A., M.D., F.A.C.P.

The School of Medicine headed by Dean C. C. Carpenter offers the first two years of the regular medical course, and is recognized throughout the south through the records made by its graduates.

In addition to shouldering his share of the teaching duties, Dr. Carpenter has made valuable contacts which have resulted in a better medical school for Wake Forest.

THE SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

The Wake Forest College School of Medicine, threatened with abolition after thirty-three fruitful years of existence, came up to all requirements and is now accredited by every related standardizing agency in America. Although there are only half as many medical schools in America as there were in 1908, the school at Wake Forest has held its own, largely through the efforts of President Thurman D. Kitchin.

About five hundred doctors have been turned out by the School of Medicine, and most of them are making high marks in further study and practice. By combining academic and professional study, it is possible for a student to gain the baccalaureate and medical degrees of Wake Forest in seven years. Standards are so high that only about one-sixth of those who apply gain admittance into the medical school.

The first dean, in 1902, was Dr. Fred Cooke. He was succeeded by Dr. W. S. Rankin, now with the Duke Foundation, who served until he was made secretary of the State Board of Health. Dr. C. C. Carpenter now serves in the capacity of dean. In addition to shouldering his share of administrative duties, Dr. Carpenter has made valuable contacts which should result in a better medical school for Wake Forest.

The physical plant is admirably suited for first class study and research. In 1933 the new William Amos Johnson medical building was erected, with the highest type of classroom and laboratory facilities. Work here is supplemented by practical instructions in the Rex Hospital, Raleigh.

THE CLASSES

Directed by Coach Dick Frazier this group of lads, hit by hard luck on every side, made a remarkable record in wins as well as in sportsmanship. Goodwyn, Smith, Turner, Couch, Townsend, and Fatty Holding were some of the players. There is no written record of their wins and losses, but as gathered from other sources of information, this group was the best ball club in North Carolina during 1905.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council, organized at Wake Forest College in 1921, is at the head of student self-government. Its twelve members have met weekly to dispense with necessary business, to try individuals accused of breaking college rules, and to discuss ways for bettering the student spirit on this campus.

This year, under the supervision of the Student Council, a great step forward in the field of social activity has been made. There has also been a greater respect for the honor system felt by the students.

GOVERNMENT

THE STUDENT LEGISLATURE

The Student Legislature, which came into existence at Wake Forest College fifteen years ago, is the body whose primary function is to pass necessary laws for the enforcement of student government. The eleven legislators and twelve councilmen held several extra sessions in addition to their three regular meetings in October, February, and May.

The main job of the Legislature this year was to revise the constitution. By doing so they have made the document much clearer.

STATE Champions!! Out of twenty-six games played this team lost but three. This is probably the greatest baseball team to date composed of well known men in the field of Wake Forest Athletics. Phil Utley, head of the school athletic program at present, Lamar Stringfield and Cuthrell were fine athletes. Billings captained the nine through a most successful season. Other players were Smith, Lowe, Faucette, Parker, Edwards, Gooch, Woodall, and Huntley. Frank Thompson was the coach.

WAKE FOREST 7—CAROLINA 14

Wake Forest's Deacons opened the 1936 football season making their debut in the Southern Conference against Carolina at Charlotte. The game ended in a 14-7 defeat for the Baptists who had led the Tar Heels throughout three quarters of the contest.

Little Dallas Morris jumped the Deacs off to an early lead when he took a Carolina kick and dashed through the entire Carolina team for 57 yards and a score. Morris added the extra point after his run which was the highlight of the game.

The Deacs fought to hold this lead and succeeded until there were but ten minutes of the game remaining. At this point Carolina started a drive which ended with Little passing to Buck for a Tar Heel score. Little scored for Carolina again and the game was over.

WAKE FOREST 9—STATE COLLEGE 0

After State and Wake Forest students battled the night before on the Wake campus, the Deacon football machine met State's Wolfpack in Riddick Stadium on October 3 and rolled smoothly to a 9-0 victory.

On the first play of the game Hal Warren broke off tackle for Wake Forest and raced sixty yards before being downed on State's 25 yard line. This play put the Deacs in a striking position from where Walton Kitchin later kicked a field goal to send the Deacs into a 3-0 lead.

Wake Forest continued to dominate the play throughout the rest of the game which was largely played in State territory. Warren again stepped into the picture late in the fourth quarter when he intercepted a State pass and sprinted forty yards for a touchdown.

WAKE FOREST 6—DAVIDSON 19

Wake Forest closed its season losing to Davidson, 19-6, in a colorful Thanksgiving day game played at Davidson. Wake Forest scored first when Hobo Daniel went around end in the second quarter for 55 yards and a touchdown. Davidson countered in the same period when Teeny Lafferty, great Wildcat star, carried the ball across after a Davidson drive.

The Wildcats went into the lead when Tom Corbin ran back the opening kickoff of the second half for a score.

WAKE FOREST 32—WOFFORD 0

In the first game ever played under lights on Gore Field, Wake Forest administered a smothering 32-0 defeat to Wofford in a game played in the rain.

The Deacons started fast, Hobo Daniel passing thirty yards to Bert Shore who ran forty yards more for a touchdown. Before Wofford could get the ball the Deacs had scored again. This time it was Hal Warren who broke away for a beautiful 47 yard punt to cross the line standing up. Dallas Morris scored the third touchdown of the first half when he skipped through the Wofford defense for 33 yards and a score. Hobo Daniel and Dynie Holton counted for the Deacs in the last half.

WAKE FOREST 6—CLEMSON 0

Wake Forest scored its third straight of the season when Clemson's Tigers were downed in a muddy 6-0 contest.

The Deacons won the game in the fourth period after three quarters of a kicking duel. With only minutes to play Porter Sheppard took a Clemson kick in midfield and twisted fifty yards over the rain soaked grid for a score and victory.

WAKE FOREST 12—GEORGE WASHINGTON 13

The Deacons lost the most heartbreaking game of the year on October 25 in Washington when George Washington scored on the final play of the contest to gain a 13-12 win. Morris and Shore scored for Wake Forest to secure a 12-7 lead which was held until the last second of the contest when the Colonials scored on a pass to win.

WAKE FOREST 19—PRESBYTERIAN 0

The Deacons scored their fourth win of the season over Presbyterian in an easy 19-0 game played on Gore Field on October 31.

Hobo Daniel carried the ball over for two Wake Forest scores, while Dallas Morris got the last six points on a pretty 38 yard runback of a Presbyterian kick. Warren also sparkled on the offense.

WAKE FOREST 0—DUKE 20

Led by All-American Ace Parker, Duke University's great grid machine beat back a fighting Deacon eleven to triumph 20-0 before 10,000 Wake Forest homecomers.

Parker scored one touchdown and further demonstrated his ability, but it was Hobo Daniel, Deacon fullback, who gained the plaudits of the crowd. Daniel was the spearhead of the Wake Forest attack, and in the last period got off a kick that traveled from his own five to the Duke fifteen, an eighty-five yard kick.

THE 1936

BASEBALL SEASON

John C. Caddell
Coach

The baseball season of 1936 had an indeed promising outlook for Coach John Caddell and Wake Forest. Of the 1935 team that finished second in the Big Five, Coach Caddell had lost but two regulars, and several good men were coming up from the state championship freshman team of the year before to offset these losses.

The Deacs swung into action on April 3, a cold, blustery day which saw them stocking up against stiff competition, the Albany Senators of the International League. Although losing 2-1 in the season's debut, the Deacs looked impressive, and in three pitchers, Gaddy, Byrd, and Glass showed a world of mound strength.

In their first collegiate competition of the season the Deacs dropped another, to Michigan State by a 4-1 score. Following this game the Deacs lined up against professionals again when they met the Boston Bees in Goldsboro. The Bees won, 2-0, but it took them twelve innings to do it.

Seemingly unable to get going, Wake Forest dropped the annual Easter Monday game to State College, 8-7, and then took the first win of the season, defeating Richmond University by an 8-6 score. Georgetown followed Richmond and won over the Baptists by a 16-9 count.

Following the Georgetown game the Deacons hit their stride which carried them on through the season to take the Big Five title for the first time in four years. The Deacs met Davidson in a double header on Gore Field on April 23, and, with Forest Glass and Brax Rhodes pitching superb ball, took both ends of the bill by 15-0 and 6-2 scores. The Baptists lost a sixteen inning thriller to Carolina on the following day, but then came back on the 25th to hand Duke its first loss of the year by a 6-2 count. Forest Glass pitched and allowed the Devils only eight well scattered hits.

On Monday, the 27th, Wake Forest met State for the second time, and John Gaddy turned in a 4-3 win over the Wolfpack. The game was won in the ninth inning on a perfect squeeze bunt by Captain Floyd Patton to score Pres Chappell. Duke came to Wake Forest on Wednesday and the Devils were nearly blasted out of Gore Field by the Deac attack. Four pitchers were unable to stem the tide that rolled up fourteen runs while Forest Glass was holding Duke to eight hits and three markers.

The Deacons next met Duke in a double header in Durham on May 2. An overflow crowd was on hand to see the two teams, fighting for the Big Five title, split the double bill. The Blue Devils

THE 1936 BASEBALL SEASON

finally managed to defeat Forest Glass in the first game, but John Gaddy came back to take the second half of the double header to give Wake Forest an even break

Taking to the road on May 4, the Deacs took an easy 7-1 victory over Richmond University. Forest Glass was in the box for Wake Forest and gave up only three hits. On the following day the Baptists took a 5-3 win over the Quantico Marines at the Virginia base with Rhodes pitching. Wake Forest then dropped two straight in the nation's capitol, losing to Georgetown, 8-5, and George Washington University, 5-3. In the last game of the northern trip the Deacs again tripped the Marines at Quantico, Carl Byrd turning in the win.

Back in North Carolina again the Deacons took three straight victories which assured them of the Big Five title. On May 11 Wake Forest again defeated State College, and then followed with two more wins over Davidson's Wildcats. John Goddy, Forest Glass and Carl Byrd turned in the triumphs. The season ended on the sixteenth of May, State defeating Wake Forest, but a later Carolina victory over Duke placed Wake Forest at the top of the Big Five standings.

The Wake Forest ascension to the Big Five throne culminated a building process begun when Coach Caddell's last great team, the '32, '33 aggregation, was broken up. In 1934, with only two regulars to work with, Coach Caddell's Deacons finished fourth in the Big Five. That year, however, saw produced a great freshman team at Wake Forest which immediately made known its presence in the season of 1935.

Reid Staton

In 1935, Coach Caddell added four sophomores to his starting lineup. 1935 also saw another state championship freshman team for Wake Forest, and with the season of 1936 Coach Caddell was ready. Three members of the team were seniors, Captain Floyd Patton, Dwight Wall and John Gaddy. Eight players were juniors, Dallas Morris, Pres Chappell, Porter Shepard, Doyt Morris, George Mauney, Braxton Rhodes, Young Howard, and Jesse Cole. Among the first year varsity men were Carl Byrd, Forest Glass, Smut Aderholt, Eddie Yount, Tallie Dupree, and Horace Payne.

For hitting power Wake Forest has probably never had a better group of players. From the first to the last man in the batting order they were known as dangerous men at all times at the plate. Six players, Dal Morris, Pres Chappell, Doyt Morris, Smut Aderholt, Dwight Wall and Eddie Yount finished the season with averages above the .300 mark. Dal Morris, captain of the 1937 team, and Chappell finished among the first five hitters in the Big Five Conference.

Once the Wake Forest infield began to click it worked as a machine. With Patton at first, Aderholt at second, Chappell at short, and Dal Morris at third, Coach Caddell had a beautifully working quartet.

The outfield of Doyt Morris, Dwight Wall and Eddie Yount ranked as the best in the state. All three had great throwing arms and fielding ability, and each finished the season hitting above .300.

The mound staff composed of John Gaddy, Brax Rhodes, Forest Glass, Carl Byrd and Jessie Cole, was a great group of throwers, ably handled by Porter Shepard and Young Howard, the two Deacon backstops.

Coach Caddell and Wake Forest had in 1936 a fine team, one that will go down in history among the greatest.

BASKETBALL SEASON

The basketball season started with Coach Murray Greason's Wake Forest team having possibilities. Three men from the starting 1936 five were lost by graduation. However, there were several good men coming up from a great freshman team upon whom rested the success of Deacon varsity.

Coach Greason had two fine veterans, Captain Doyt Morris and George Mauney, around whom he built his team. Pres Chappell and Smut Aderholt were two other valuable experienced men whom Coach Greason had available. To these veterans he added Jimmy Woller, Turk Apple, Rex Carter, Smith Young and Dave Fuller, all sophomores, who played great ball in their first year up.

The Deacs opened their season playing two independent teams, the Durham Y and the Carolina All-Stars, before the Christmas holidays. Victories were registered over both outfits, and the Baptists scored one more triumph before the vacation, taking a 44-28 Southern Conference game from William and Mary.

Returning to school early, the Wake Forest team engaged in a series of games with non-collegiate teams which found the Deacons taking four of the five contests.

The first competition of the new year was with Duke's fast Blue Devils. Minus Turk Apple the Deacs put up a great fight, but lost a hard 30-28 game. Apple got back into the lineup against Carolina two nights later on the 7th of January and rang up a long shot in the last seconds of play to give Wake Forest a 24-23 win.

The following week found the Deacons very active with six games in six nights. Wake Forest took the first game of the series with Roanoke College by a 27-26 score, and followed this with a 53-29 victory over Clemson. State scored over the Deacs the next night by a 49-31 margin. George Washington trimmed Wake Forest, 55-33, and Roanoke gained revenge with a 28-27 win. This series of games ended with Wake Forest overwhelming William and Mary for the second time. The final game before examinations was played against Carolina at Wake Forest. The White Phantoms won a hotly disputed 30-29 victory when a last minute Carolina shot hit a wire above the backboard and went in the basket for the last score of the night.

Murray Greason

After the examination period the Deacons tripped Duke in a 34-30 thriller on February 6, and two nights later defeated Elon by a 42-40 score. Davidson came to Wake Forest on the 13th and handed the Baptists a surprise 43-32 setback, but the Deacons staged a great comeback four nights later by trimming State on the Raleigh court, 41-33. Following the State game the Deacs played three more games on successive nights, winning them all. Clemson fell for the second time, 28-26, and the Citadel was swamped under a 42-18 score. Wake Forest closed its season successfully by defeating Davidson, 42-31.

Wake Forest ended its season in third place in Southern Conference standings, therefore holding a seeded position in the annual tournament held in Raleigh. The tournament opened on March 4 with the Deacons easily disposing of Richmond University, 33-24. Wake Forest was defeated by Carolina in the semifinals the next night, but only after a great battle that marked Wake Forest as one of the gamest teams ever to play in the tournament. Trailing by a 37-23 score, fourteen points, with ten minutes to play the Deacons staged a stirring rally which saw them bring the score up to 37-35, only to have their rally ended by the timer's gun. Jimmy Waller scored nineteen points in this contest, and at the conclusion of the tournament was selected on the all-tournament team, the only sophomore in the Conference to make the grade. All of the players contributed throughout the season, and the first five, Captain Dayt Morris, Jimmy Waller, Turk Apple, George Mauney, and Rex Carter, aided in giving Wake Forest one of the greatest court teams ever to wear the old gold and black.

The Wake Forest track team of 1936 completed the most successful season enjoyed by a Baptist track team in many years. The men of Coach Phil Utley competed in three meets and were the victors in every one. The Deacons originally had four dual meets scheduled for the year, but an engagement with Guilford College was canceled because of rain.

The first victory of the year was scored at the expense of Duke's Blue Imps in a meet on Gore Field. The final score was 64-61, Wake Forest. Hobo Daniel, football star and ace track performer, was the high scorer for Wake Forest. Daniel took first places in the shot-put, javelin throw and running broad jump. The

Marshall Summerlin
Manager

Dukesters took first places in two mile, half mile and 220 yard runs, while Drake won the mile run and Johnson took the 100 yard dash for Wake Forest. The most thrilling event was the two mile run which Williams of Duke won from Drake of Wake Forest by bare inches.

The Wake Forest trackmen next won over Hampden-Sydney College. Gore Field was the scene of the meet which ended with Wake Forest having 75 points to Hampden-Sydney's 51. Hobo Daniel and Bill Johnson shared scoring honors for the meet, each Deacon getting two firsts and a second. Bill Staton also took a first place for Wake Forest, running nicely to win the half mile. Manly Jones, Dent Weatherman, Justin Drake, and Harry Beaver were the other first place winners for the Wake Forest team.

Coch Utlley's trackmen closed the 1936 season on May 9 in a dual meet with Catholic University which was held in Washington, D. C. The Deacons scored their third victory in this meet, rolling up 64 points to 62 for the Cardinals. The outcome of the meet was in doubt until the final event when Hobo Daniel made a great jump to tie for first place in the running broad jump and gain the necessary points to establish Wake Forest as the winner. First places taken by Wake Forest were: Bill Staton, half mile; Justin Drake, mile; Paul Sholar, quarter mile; Hobo Daniel, javelin; high jump and broad jump, and Manly Jones, high hurdles

TENNIS

The 1937 Varsity Tennis Team started its season with only two players left from the 1936 roster, McMillan, one of last year's regulars, and Moore, a reserve. The team lost the services of Professor Memory, who has coached Wake Forest Tennis men for many years, but the services of Dr. E. E. Folk have been secured to fill the gap left by Professor Memory. With a new coach and almost entirely new team, hopes for a fair team this year and a much better one next year are expected.

Matches for this year have been made with Duke University, North Carolina State College, University of Richmond, William and Mary, Lenoir-Rhyne, Appalachian, Norfolk Division of William and Mary, and Atlantic Christian College. A trip in Virginia during the last of April to play the University of Richmond, William and Mary, and Randolph Macon has been made.

The team was chosen by Dr. Folk, and a system of challenging matches arranged to select men for positions on the team. Lindsey, a new man, is playing number one; McMillan, number two; Hayes, number three; Martin, number four; Moore, number five; Baldwin, number six; Wells, number seven; Hutchins, number eight; Wood, number nine; and Burke, number ten. The number one doubles team is composed of Moore and Lindsey, number two team, Hayes and Baldwin, and number three team, Martin and McMillan.

G O L F

The 1937 Golf Team is the strongest in the history of Wake Forest College. Two lettermen, Pritchard Carlton and Carey Josey are back. They are ably assisted by Jo Bishop, a senior reserve, and Rex Dowtin, one of the most promising sophomores ever to enter varsity competition. The team is coached and managed by Clyde Hatcher and Al Dowtin respectively.

The linksmen opened the season with a $14\frac{1}{2}$ — $31\frac{1}{2}$ victory over Hampden-Sidney, and followed by a more decisive $17\frac{1}{2}$ — $1\frac{1}{2}$ win over Boston College. Other dual matches are to be played with Georgetown, N. C. State, University of North Carolina, Cornell, Davidson, Furman, Clemson, and University of South Carolina. The golfers will participate in two tournaments during the spring: The State Tournament at Sedgefield on April 30, and the Southern Conference meet on Pinehurst's Championship course, May 8.

BOXING

A varsity boxing team was introduced at Wake Forest in 1937 and made a highly successful debut under the expert guidance of Coach Phil Utley. The Deacons won three matches while losing but one.

The first victory of the year was recorded over Atlantic Christian College in a meet held at Wilson. The Deacons scored three knockouts in registering a 5-3 win.

Wake Forest dropped its next encounter with Columbus University in Washington, D. C., but came back strong in a return match with Atlantic Christian to turn in another victory by a 6½-5½ margin.

The boxing season was concluded on February 20 in the Wake Forest gym when the Deacons scored a smashing victory over the ringmen of Guilford College. The final score was 6½-1½. In taking this win the Wake Forest battlers won two fights by decisions, two on clean knockouts and two on technical knockouts.

The boxing season of 1937 was considered most successful in view of the fact that it was Wake Forest's first in ring competition. The Deacons failed to record any wins in the Southern Conference boxing tournament held at College Park, Maryland, but the experience did the team members, most of whom are underclassmen, a world of good.

The outstanding men of the 1937 team were J. D. Christian, Johnny Xanthos, Jim McCall, Pittman, Kester, Wilkie, Spruill, Davis, Jim Perrow, Mickey Reynolds, and Raleigh Harrington.

Although not a championship team, the Baby Deacon outfit of 1936 turned in a nice season, winning a majority of their Big Five games. Bill Livesy, Dave Fuller, Turk Apple, Gene Phillips, Bill Dickens, Johnny Wallace and Bill Harrill were the outstanding team members.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

The Wake Forest freshman basketball team, under the tutelage of Coach Goat Hatcher, developed into another fine Baby Deacon court outfit. The Deaclets succeeded in defeating every Big Five team at least once.

Their season opened immediately after the Christmas holidays when Duke's Blue Imps won a 30-25 contest. The Baby Deacs squared accounts later in the season, taking a 36-30 contest from the Dukesters. After losing by a fifteen point margin to Carolina's Tar Babies in an early game, the Wake Forest frosh came back to score an extra period 24-22 win over their rivals. State also fell before the Deaclets, but later retaliated with a win on their own floor. Davidson's Wildkittens were the victims of Coach Hatcher's fast team twice during the season.

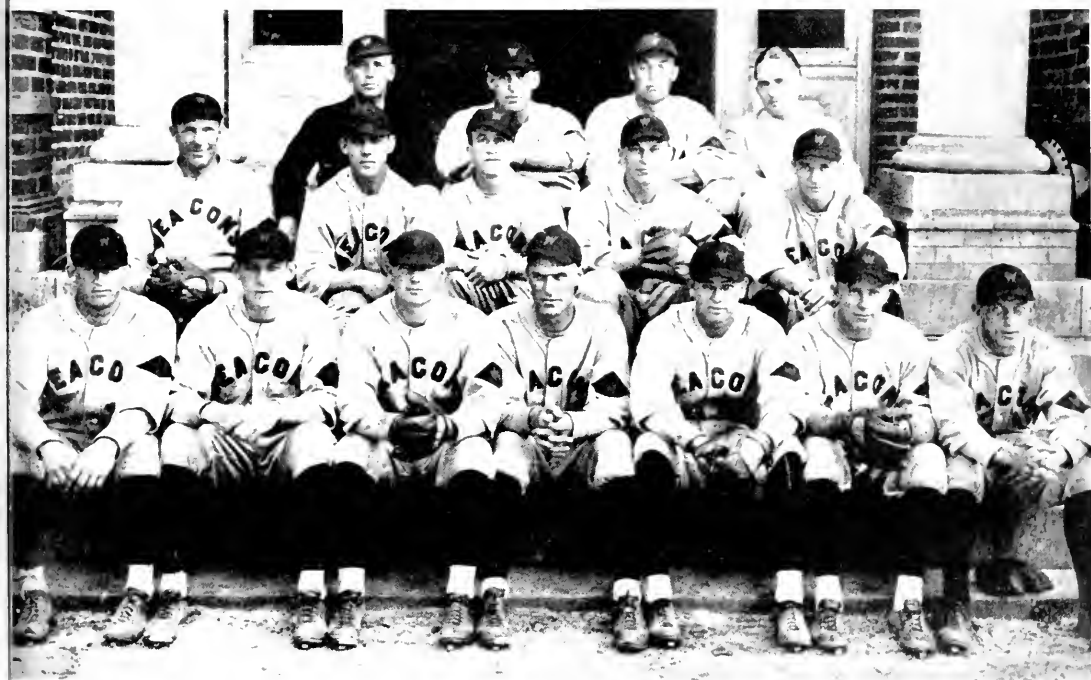

The freshman team produced several players who will later be useful to the varsity squad. Bill Sweel, star guard, Pete Davis, high scoring center, Jack Oleks, fast forward, Roscoe Stainback, steady guard, and H. O. Barnes, a flash forward all stood out in the play of the Baby Deacons throughout the season.

The freshman team took its annual trip to the western part of the state and duplicated the performance of the 1936 freshman team, winning all six of the games played.

THIS group of state champions in the field of baseball is composed of some very outstanding athletes. Bill Riley, Captain, was also an excellent football player. Key Joyner, Jack Phelps, Joe Clayton, Pop Simmons, Seaton Holt, Ralph James, Pete Joyner, Ot Person, Murray Greason, and Al Downtin are some of the prominent men of this team. Won 19—Lost 7. John Caddell, Coach.

THE NINETEEN THIRTY-SEVEN HOWLER

J. A. HUTCHINS, JR.

OSCAR CREECH, JR.
Business Manager

The first HOWLER was issued May 20, 1903. Its purpose was to portray campus life through pictures. In this thirty-fifth Wake Forest yearbook, the staff has the same general purpose in mind; it hopes to show all phases of this college so faithfully and vividly that in years to come college days will live again when these pages are turned.

The HOWLER derived its name from a "tree bulletin" board on which handwritten gossip, news, and jokes were posted where all could see them. From that humble source this yearbook grew.

The two literary societies originally had charge of publishing the HOWLER, and it was only in recent years the yearbook became a separate unit. In its steady growth, several general developments are apparent. Many pages were added as individual pictures were substituted for group photographs. As fraternities came into existence, they were treated on pages formerly devoted to multitudinous county clubs.

The staff of the 1937 HOWLER has attempted to present the many-sided pageant of Wake Forest College life, to raise a monument to those incidents and individuals that have made this year an unforgettable one.

OLD GOLD AND BLACK

ARCHIBALD MEMORY McMILLAN

DAVID BRITT

The Old Gold and Black, college weekly newspaper, was founded in 1916 with Professor Percy H. Wilson as the instigator. The faculty adviser was Dr. R. P. McCutcheon, now English professor at Tulane University and co-editor of the sophomore English anthology used here. The editor-in-chief was Cary J. Hunter, now a prominent journalist in New York City. Associate editor was Laurence Stallings, famous author and movie news reel editor.

The first issue was in the style of a magazine, being made up of several pages with only two columns each. Later the size was doubled and finally the number was increased to six columns in 1921. It continued this size until the past session, when in February, 1936, Editor Charles Trueblood increased the Old Gold and Black to a seven-column paper.

The paper serves the purpose of unifying college feeling by trying to publish news concerning all divisions on the campus. The Old Gold and Black has proved very popular among the students; this session it has leaned toward the daily newspaper in technical makeup, with frequent streamers telling of politics, football games, or debates.

JAMES W. MASON

The oldest Wake Forest College publication is The Student, which began in 1882 with Thomas Dixon, well-known novelist, as corresponding editor. It was strictly literary until a temporary discontinuation in 1928. When the magazine emerged in 1932 it had changed its nature to its present form, a literary-humorous publication.

One of the peaks in the career of The Student during its old literary days was in 1909, when successive issues were dedicated as memorials to Robert E. Lee and John Charles McNeill. The Lee memorial edition in particular was a monumental work, and has been used by many scholars and biographers who have studied the life of that great Southerner.

The Student of today contains light subject matter catering to campus taste, in addition to essays, poems, short stories and editorials. Six issues come out every school year.

THE PUBLICATIONS BOARD

OFFICERS

DAVID BRITT
President

OSCAR CREECH, JR.
Vice President

JACK HUTCHINS
Secretary-Treasurer

The Publications Board is an ex-officio body composed of the editor, business manager and faculty adviser of each of the three college publications—the HOWLER, the Student, and the Old Gold and Black—the president of the student body, one representative each, from the junior and senior classes, the head of the News Bureau, and the Bursar of the College.

Organized in 1934, the board derived its power from the student body by a vote of the students in that year. This action was taken at the instance of a proposal of a group of students who felt that the creation of such a board, with the duty of supervising the various college publications and passing on the eligibility of candidates for publication offices, would result in the production of a higher type of publication.

Under the rules adopted by the board to govern it in carrying out the duty placed upon it by the student body vote, a candidate must be approved by the board before his name is allowed to go on the general election ballot. In considering the candidate's eligibility the board takes into consideration his capability, experience, scholarship, and character.

FOUNDERS' DAY

Chalking up their third consecutive forensic victory of the year, Euzelian Literary Society speakers won the annual Founders' Day debate as alumni and students celebrated the 103d anniversary of the founding of Wake Forest College.

Winning debaters were Earle Rogers and Archibald McMillan, Eus; Phi representatives were Jimmy Hayes and Joe Leonard.

Orators were Bobby Helm and John Ezell, Eus, and G E Motley and Sloane Guy, Phis. President Bob Campbell, Eu, and Secretary J E Knatt, Phi, were in charge of the program for the evening.

The query for the debate was, "Resolved That the government should own and operate all electric utilities."

SOCIETY DAY

Winners in the annual debate were Dick Howerton and Archibald Taylor, while Earle Rogers beat out three opponents in a four-way oratorical contest.

Defeated contestants were Jimmie Hayes and Henry Ward, Phi debaters, and John Lawrence, Raydolph Liles, and Dick Howerton, orators.

In his oration "The American Home" Rogers charged that there has been since the Civil War an increase of 400 per cent in the ratio of divorces to marriages, and that the break up of the home is largely responsible for survival of poverty and ignorance typified in Markham's "Man with the Hoe."

BARRISTERS' CLUB

In the fall of 1932 a group of law students organized the Barristers' Club so that the men in the School of Law might have an opportunity to discuss problems of state, have experience in public speaking and parliamentary procedure. Unlike a fraternity, the club is composed of a cosmopolitan group—having cosmopolitan interests.

NEWS BUREAU

The News Bureau was organized in 1929 under the direction of Professor J. L. Memory, Jr. Prior to this time the college news had been sent out by various students and faculty members who did their work well, but there was no continuous organization for the specific purpose of furnishing Wake Forest publicity to the state newspapers.

During this seven-year period an average of about four news releases have been sent each day to twenty daily newspapers throughout the state and various other periodicals, such as the Biblical Recorder, Charity and Children, and The State magazine. This means that about 10,000 news stories, totalling over 2,000,000 words, about Wake Forest have been furnished to the above papers. This includes both general news and sports releases, but does not include 500 annual stories on seniors in the spring and composite personnel write-ups in the fall sent to county newspapers.

The Wake Forest College News Bureau had its office for a number of years in the original vine-covered Wait Hall. The aim of the bureau at all times has been to present in a straightforward manner the events of faculty and student life, allowing them to represent within themselves the traditional spirit of progress and high minded living that has typified Wake Forest's century and more of history.

MINISTERIAL CLASS

Men have come from the ends of the earth into the warm fellowship of the ministerial conference, and hundreds of men have felt its abiding influence as they have preached, taught, and lived the gospel of Jesus Christ in all sections of the world.

Sixty add years ago the first ministerial conferences were led in study of sermon building by Dr. William Royall. Forty years ago Dr. W. R. Cullam revived this group in deep gratitude for the aid that Dr. Royall had extended him in his student days. The purpose widened to the extent that ministerial students might meet and keep in touch with the vital things of their calling. A few years later it was organized into its present status.

For the last forty years men have drawn from Dr. Cullam's leadership in lectures, open forum discussions, and in study. Questions are raised and lives are enriched by thoughtful discussions of them. Ministers going out from Wake Forest College reflect with grateful hearts on this vital part of their college work.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

The Link that connects all religious activities on the campus is the Baptist Student Union. The different units controlled by the B.S.U. Council, to which they send representatives, are as follows: the Sunday School, Training Union, Ministerial Class, Mission Study Group, and prayer groups for morning watch and vespers. The B.S.U. Council joins these student religious organizations with the church and works out its financial budget in cooperation with the church treasurer.

In addition to supervising various religious organizations, the council has tried to give new men a hospitable reception to the college, has helped plan socials, and has stimulated interest in religious activity on the campus. At the beginning of the year, different religious leaders were each given a group of freshmen to be introduced to the standards and ideals of the college.

HONORARY FRATERNITIES

THE GOLDEN BOUGH

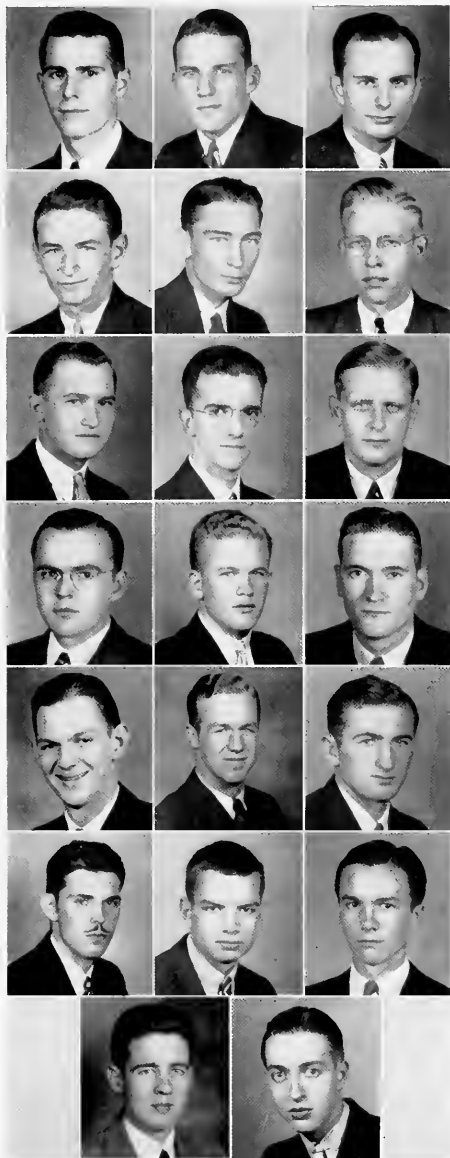

Quoting from the 1926 Howler, the first year the Golden Bough appeared there as an organization: "The Golden Bough had its origin with Dean D. B. Bryan. Under his direction each member of the faculty, in the spring of 1925, was asked to submit a list of ten men in college who in his opinion, all things considered, gave greatest promise. Those men whose names appeared most frequently were in turn asked to name ten of their fellow students. The results showed that thirty-nine men had received three or more votes.

"These men, following the suggestions of Dr. Poteat and Dean Bryan, formed the organization now known as The Golden Bough. The Golden Bough has as its purpose 'the perpetuation at Wake Forest College of the high standard of scholarship, Christian character, and efficient leadership.'

"Selection for membership into The Golden Bough is made by a combined vote of the faculty and The Golden Bough. One must receive at least five votes, two of which must be faculty votes. Freshmen are ineligible, and not over two per cent of the student body may be admitted at any one election.

Several changes have been made in the laws of The Golden Bough, but its essential purpose remains the same.

Shortly after the coming of fraternities to the campus of Wake Forest in 1920, there arose a need for a representative unit to deal equitably with the inevitable disputes arising between those bodies. The Pan-Hellenic Council was therefore organized having for its primary purpose, as its inception, the promulgation and enforcement of rushing rules. It was composed of one representative from each fraternity, and has as its faculty adviser Dr. H. B. Jones.

Some ten years later with the growth of more varied and complete social life the Council extended its jurisdiction to cover all social functions sponsored by the fraternities, both singly and as a body.

At the present time the council finds its duties varied and exacting in the social, scholastic and domestic life of fraternities as a whole. This year the Council sponsored several activities which served to encourage a better social life for Wake Forest. Stunt Night, honoring the band, was a beginning episode in Wake Forest social activity. Inter-fraternity sports were also begun, and much interest was shown. The chief work of the council this year was the revision of the constitution, which results in a much clearer document.

*T*HE TEMPO of progress in the electrical industry has been increasingly rapid. Constant improvement in the generation, distribution and utilization of electricity has marked the swift passing of the years. Cooperation of utility engineers with electrical appliance manufacturers has brought about vast improvements in the familiar applications of electricity to the home and industry. New and ingenious applications, in constant development, serve to widen its field of usefulness.

Long accepted as the ideal servant, electricity is bringing new economies in time, fuel and power to the myriad processes it serves. In the home, electricity has changed the living habits of the homemaker and her family. Through its use, industry has reached new heights of efficiency.

BUILDERS DREAMS

VISIONS created by the imagination precede the achievement of any really great accomplishment. The ability to weave the threads of imagination into the finished fabric is equally important.

It has been the privilege of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY to cooperate with the Howler staff in creating their vision into material form.

Such cooperation is one of the "visions" which precede the building of a successful business, and is a part of the working policy of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY.

To those Staffs desiring complete co-operation, we offer unexcelled service.

You, too, may be proud of your annual.
